

Logwin satisfied with participation in transport logistic

Grevenmacher (Luxembourg) – The logistics service provider Logwin looks back on a successful transport logistic 2009 in Munich.

"transport logistic 2009 was an excellent platform for a direct dialog with our customers", says Helmut Kaspers, COO at Logwin AG's business segment Air + Ocean, in summarizing the company's trade fair appearance. "The intensive exchange of ideas reinforced existing contacts and opened up new perspectives. A large number of potential new customers also sought a dialog with our logistics experts."

Since last participating in the fair in 2003, the company appeared for the first time under the Logwin brand. Many visitors to the fair took the opportunity of gaining a first-hand impression of the new brand and came to find out about the logistics group's range of international services. "In economically challenging times, reliable and at the same time flexible logistics partners are in great demand. We can best identify our customer's individual requirements in close discussions with them. And we certainly used our presence at the fair to this end", says Kaspers.

The world's largest exhibition for logistics, telematics and transport covered a record area and registered record numbers of exhibitors and more than 47,500 trade visitors.
