

Logwin at the transport logistic trade show in Shanghai

Grevenmacher (Luxembourg) - The global logistics service provider Logwin will be present at the transport logistic in China from 8 to 10 June 2010. The international specialist trade show for logistics, telematics and transportation is taking place for the fourth time.

Logwin will be presenting its complete range of services and its international expertise at the Shanghai New International Expo Centre. The company will be informing show visitors in particular about its competence in Asia in the German Pavilion in hall E2. Logwin has had a presence on the Asian market for more than 35 years and currently operates 37 own locations in ten countries.

transport logistic China welcomes trade visitor from industry, commerce and transportation. Over 420 international companies from 41 countries had registered as exhibitors by the beginning of May 2010. They will be presenting innovative solutions and the latest trends in logistics on an area of 15,000 m². A comprehensive conference program will round off the trade show at transport logistic China.
