

Logwin strengthens air and sea freight business in Germany

Grevenmacher (Luxembourg) – Network expansion in the south-west of Germany – Logistics service provider Logwin opened an office in Ettlingen just several kilometres south of Karlsruhe at the beginning of the year. The company now provides its customers with international air and sea freight services as well as customs services from a single source from this location. Logwin also independently arranges feed and collection services from and to ports and airports.

Logwin's international logistics network now includes more than 120 air and sea freight offices around the world. The new location in Ettlingen is Logwin's seventeenth air and sea freight office in Germany and is located in the industrial region of Karlsruhe.

Wide range of industries

Many production, services and research companies with international operations are located in the region. They include, for example, companies in the automotive sector, the energy industry, the textiles sector, medical engineering and the IT industry.

Logwin staff at the location in Ettlingen now organise air and sea freight transportation for these companies. Air freight shipments reach their destination via Stuttgart or Frankfurt airports while Logwin uses ports in the north and west for sea transportation. The Logwin team in Ettlingen consists of experienced air and sea freight specialists as well as customs experts.
